History Night!!!!

"Under-floor Air Distribution"

This month's meeting will be a presentation on "Under-floor air distribution" by Jack Geortner from York International. Jack will be discussing the products available for under-floor air distribution systems, and installation of these types of systems.

Jack Geortner is the Marketing and business Development Manager for York International Corporation. He has been involved in the commercial building product market for over twenty years.

Members of the local AIA chapter have also been invited and should help provide some outside prospective on the potential use of under-floor air distribution systems.
